

MOLOTOFF ENDS VISIT WITH HITLER

RAF Again Bombs Berlin and Italian Navy

PILOTS BRAVE BAD WEATHER ON NAZI CALL

German Capital Under Attack
as Russian Premier Ends
Visit with Hitler.

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 14.—Fifteen German planes were shot down today, the air ministry announced.

By The Associated Press
British warplanes heavily bombed the heart of Berlin, where Adolf Hitler was conducting mysterious secret negotiations with Russian Premier Molotoff, London
reported today, and struck another "successful" blow at Italy's big naval base of Taranto.

The British air ministry said
RAF bombers, raiding in the face of "extremely adverse weather," showered explosives on Berlin's Schlesischer railroad station and the Grunewald freight yards.

Dispatches from a British battle-ship off Taranto said royal navy
bombers, attacking by moonlight,
blasted at Taranto's inner defense line in the first night raid on the base since one great Italian warship and two others beached or half submerged.

Aerial torpedoes and high-explosive bombs crashed against the coastal defenses, the dispatches said, and shells of fire leaped from the 35,000-ton Littorio—described by Italians as the fastest warship in the world.

Pilots Report Fires
Pilots reported that fires burst
from the other damaged battleships, both belonging to the 23,622-ton Cavour class, with one of them left "half under water"
and the other beached.

From London, it was reported that at least one of Britain's glut aircraft carriers are now operating in the Mediterranean with the fleet air arm commanded by Rear Admiral Arthur Lumley St.
George Lyster.

Few details were available on the new attack at Taranto, where earlier this week the British royal navy's air arm reportedly crippled half of the Italian navy's battleships.

Information officially received in London shows that a successful attack was made by RAF bombers last (Wednesday) night on the coasts and harbors at Taranto, a brief communiqué said. "All our aircraft returned safely."

Italy issued a denial of British claims that half the Fascist capital ship strength was disabled, declaring the report was "fantastic."

French File Protest
Meanwhile, an open flare of resentment against Germany's treatment as a conqueror was voiced by the French government today
in a formal protest against the expulsion of French-speaking subjects from the province of Lorraine.

An official French communiqué
said the Germans had not respected the rights of the action taken as a result of an alleged accord between Berlin and Premier Marshal Philippe Petain's
Vichy government.

"The government issues a most formal denial of this allegation,"
the French said, adding that there had never been any question of such measures involved in recent French-German conversations.

"As concerning the fact of the expulsion, the French government protests to the German armistice commission," the communiqué
said.

Marion Co. Ordered To Send First 9 Men To Army Nov. 25

Each Board To Furnish Three Volunteers; Morrow, Wyandot, Union Counties Get Calls.

Marion county's three draft boards today received their first orders to send men into the army
to report at Fort Hayes, Columbus, on Nov. 25.

Three nearby counties also received their first orders: Morrow county Board 1 for three men on
Nov. 25 at Fort Hayes; Wyandot
county Board 1 for three men on
Nov. 25 at Fort Hayes; Union
county Board 1 for three men on
Nov. 25 at Fort Thomas, Ky.

Marion county's first nine men,
three from each board, will all be volunteers.

They were all ordered to leave Marion on the C. & O. railroad at 11:37 a. m. Nov. 25 from the Union station and are scheduled to arrive at the Union station in Columbus at 1:15 p. m. when they will be met by transportation from Fort Hayes.

The men will be taken in the order in which they volunteered, provided they pass physical examinations.

In First Call List
Board 1 (Wards 1-2-3)—Probable men to go are: Albert Foye, 28, of 135 Blaine avenue; John L.
Shearer, 23, of 138 Carhart street;
Dale E. Greenland, 21, of 583 North Prospect street. If one of these should not pass his physical examination, the next in line is John Tennar, 23, of 332 Nye street.
If the first three men who volunteered do go to camp, it will split two twins who have volunteered, Dale E. and Gale P.
Greenland of 583 North Prospect street, Dale is No. 3 on the list and Gale is No. 6.

Board 2 (Wards 4-5-6)—The three men to go from this board will be:
John R. Elliott, 27, of 264 South
State street; Charles Alan Shealy, 22, of 301 South Vine street; and Jack P. Markwith, 22, of 399 East Center street. All three have passed their physical examinations. Incidentally Mr. Markwith who had asked for the navy, today decided to take the army
when he learned that only army men were ordered in the first quota. If by any chance, these three should not go, the fourth in line is Paul A. Youngblood, 28, of 145 Olney avenue.

Board 3 (rural)—The first three volunteers in this board are:
Lawrence A. Clark, 21, of Green
Camp R. D. No. 6; Evert Shearer, 23, of near LaRue; and William H. Haines, 26, of Calodonia. If one of these does not pass a physical examination, volunteer No. 4 is Walter Edward Nye, 22, of Marion R. D. No. 4.

The first four volunteers of Board No. 3 are having their physical examinations tomorrow morning at the office of Dr. J. T.
Boxwell in Prospect.

Board No. 2 already has examined and passed its first four volunteers.

Test Set For 10
T. E. Andrews, chairman of Board No. 1, today announced he probably would call the first 10 volunteers of his board for examinations on Monday, Nov.
18. Definite information on this will be announced later.

When Marion county's first nine men prepare to leave Nov.
25, they first will report to their respective draft boards. There they will receive final instructions and a leader will be named for each group to be responsible for the men until they reach Fort Hayes.

Officials of all three boards indicated today that there would be no ceremony in connection with the leaving.

Women's Division
Mrs. V. H. Barnhill, chairman of the women's division in charge of the residential canvass, presided for the reports from her workers.

The division total was $867.25, divided as follows among the wards:

No. 1, Mrs. T. E. Andrews, chairman, $120.05; No. 2, Mrs. Harry Cebell, chairman, $32.27; No. 3,
Mrs. Damon Spicer, chairman,
$35.65; No. 4, Mrs. F. H. Shade, chairman, $119.75; No. 5, Mrs.
Leonard Young, chairman, $64.08;
No. 6, including Vernon Heights,
Mrs. J. H. Harmon, chairman, $295.45.

The meeting, presided over by J. B. Ellis, chapter chairman, included singing of "God Bless America," led by Mr. Ellis, with Mrs. Chester Morris at the piano.
The table prayer was offered by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood of Trinity Baptist church.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR DOCTORS TALK TONIGHT

Four Marion physicians will speak on "Rheumatic Fever in Children" at a public panel discussion tonight at 8 at Epworth Methodist church under auspices of the Marion Federation of the Child Conservation league. The speakers will be Dr. Frederick G.
Smith, Dr. D. W. Brickley Jr., Dr.
Frederick W. Rea and Dr. J. W.
Bull. The program will include selections by the federation chorus and piano numbers by Bruce Johnson.

L. DON JONES, FORMER MARION MAYOR, ILL.

L. Don Jones of Columbus, former mayor of Marion, is reported to be seriously ill in Grant hospital. He was removed to the hospital after being stricken Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The attending physician has not determined definitely the nature of his illness, relatives said. Mr. Jones' condition was reported to be slightly improved last night.

HUNTING AREA PATROL IS SET

Meeker Club To Join Officers in Supervision When Season Opens Friday.

Preparations to patrol Marion county land and to supervise controlled hunting areas, in the most elaborate program ever instituted here, were being completed today
along with other eleventh hour arrangements for the opening of Ohio's hunting season tomorrow noon.

More than a score of men, from law enforcement officers to members of associations interested in game conservation, will have a part in the program. O. H. Nei-meyer, state game protector, of Prospect will head the enforcement staff, which has been increased for the duration of the season.

Patrol 40,000 Acres
Fifteen members of the Meeker Sportsmen's club will center their attention on patrolling 40,000 acres which have been set aside
in a controlled hunting area.

They will ask hunters to display their permit cards, which must bear the signatures of landowners.
The section has been posted designating it as a patrolled area.

Last year the same organization carried on a similar but less elaborate program. The association is composed almost entirely of farmers and landowners. William Roz-man is president and Homer Rhoads is secretary.

The first arrest in Marion county was a hunting law violation was reported today by Mr.
Neimeyer. He arrested Donald Wilson, 21, of near Marion, when the latter allegedly had a cock pheasant in his possession.

Pheasants Gully
The bird was dead and examination revealed that it had been shot, the officer reported. Wilson pleaded guilty last night before Justice of Peace G. F. Gast at Prospect and was fined $25 and costs.

Mr. Neimeyer reminded hunters that there is no state-supervised hunting area in the county. He has received numerous inquiries for places to hunt but has declined to make arrangements either for parties of sportsmen or individuals seeking likely hunting grounds.

In recent weeks he also has been requested to close sections of land
to hunting for the purpose of establishing game refuges. This, he said, cannot be done until after new regulations are placed in effect Jan. 1.

To Search Autos
Hunters were reminded again
today of the announcement by Don Waters, state conservation commissioner, that the search of automobiles will be re-instituted to curb game law violators. Persons possessing game illegally will face immediate prosecution. The system, first inaugurated several years ago, was abandoned last season.

Tomorrow noon will bring the opening of rabbit, pheasant, grouse and Hungarian partridge
season, and also signals the start of the 1940 trapping season. Rabbit season continues through Jan.
1, 1941, with a limit of four a day
and four in possession. Pheasants are available through Nov. 30, two cock birds a day and four in possession.

Although on the opening day
shooting will not begin until noon, hunting on subsequent days will be permitted from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

BERLIN SAYS THEY DECIDE ON SPHERE OF RED INFLUENCE

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER
Berlin Associated Press Bureau Chief

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Adolf Hitler and Soviet Premier Molotoff have agreed upon a Russian sphere of interest lying generally between Japan's Far Eastern sphere and Europe and Africa, which Rome and Berlin have allotted to themselves, sources usually in the know divulged today after Molotoff had started for home.

With the exception of European Russia and Turkey,
all of Europe and Africa will stand under the leadership of the Axis creators, Germany and Italy, these persons
said.

Official confirmation of this was unobtainable, since the Wilhelmstrasse has made it plain that nothing will be said beyond this noon's communiqué, which stated that Germany and Russia have reached a "mutual accord on all important questions of interest" to both.

Inquiries in quarters
which always prove reliable on matters of foreign policy developed this picture, however:

1. Russia will have her "grosraum," or vast space of domination, just as the Axis and Japan arranged to have theirs by the terms of the three-power pact
signed on Sept. 27.

2. This "grosraum" will not be created at the expense of parties
not involved in the present European conflict. In other words, no further slice will be taken out of Finland nor will the Dardanelles be taken from Turkey, provided she behaves in a manner
not inimical to the Axis and Russia.

3. Turkey must make up her mind definitely and finally anent
her place in the future scheme of things. Germany, Italy and Russia all feel confident that Turkey
will, in due time, seek an adjustment with the totalitarian powers.

If any further argument is needed to convince Turkey where her bread is buttered, Russia, and with her friendship pact with Turkey, is the obvious partner to present the additional arguments.

4. Whatever compensation Russia may desire in return for her support of the Berlin-Tokyo Treaty arrangement for a "new world" must come from a "bankruptcy inventory" of the British empire. German sources seem certain that Molotoff, speaking for Stalin, considers Britain already defeated. Just as does the Axis.

Axis Won't Object
5. If the Soviet Union should desire to realize her age-long dream of obtaining access to the world's oceans, say via Iran or Afghanistan and British India, she will find the Axis powers "disinterested." In other words these powers will raise no objections.

6. All parties concerned will join in efforts to bring about a non-aggression pact between Russia and Japan, as a result of which Japan, too, will show her "disinterest" in those regions which Russia regards as part of her
"grosraum."

Berlin at 11 a. m. (4 a. m. Marion time) after days of conference with Adolf Hitler and other high Nazis leaders.

The communiqué issued soon
after his departure said:
"During his visit to Berlin on Nov. 12-13, 1940, Chairman of the People's Council and Foreign Minister Molotoff had talks with the Fuehrer and Reich Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop."

"An exchange of views was carried out in an atmosphere of mutual trust and led to mutual agreement on all important questions of interest to Germany and the U.S.S.R."

Up To Turkey
Although it was stated authoritatively that little, if anything, beyond this communiqué would be disclosed about the conference, informed sources indicated that it was Turkey's decision to decide whether she would join the forces
creating "a new order" in Europe or whether she would stand aside from or even oppose them.

(As the Russian-German conferences began, there was widespread speculation, never confirmed in Berlin, that the talks would center largely upon the role of Turkey, friend of Britain, in the near eastern phase of the war.)

Informed sources expressed the opinion that new developments
would result from the conference not only in Europe, but beyond the European continent. They doubted, however, whether these developments would become visible immediately. They intimated that immediate action resulted usually only after Fuehrer Hitler conferred with Benito Mussolini.

While brief, the official communique, authorized sources said,
was of such monumental import
that any commentary thereon
would be tantamount to a limitation of it.

The talks between Molotoff and the ranking German leaders it was said, were so complete and all-embracing that a early visit to Moscow by Von Ribbentrop is contemplated.

Taranto Attack More Than Big British Victory

(This daily feature, conducted by David MacKenzie, is being written by Fred Vanderschmidt
while MacKenzie is taking a brief vacation.)

When Britain's Churchill said that the Taranto bombing of Italy's main battle fleet would have repercussions in naval affairs in every quarter of the globe,
he was not exaggerating.

For it is more than a British naval victory, this reported crumpling of half of Mussolini's beatified battleships by royal naval bombers. It is above all evidence that Britain's superb fleet has an air arm which can strike with telling force in coordination with surface craft.

This becomes more obvious now that it is clear that the planes which bombed Taranto operated from two of Britain's remaining aircraft carriers. Incidentally, it is a vindication of this type of warship, which lost much prestige with the sinking, earlier in the war, of the British aircraft carriers Courageous and Glorious.

The importance of the discovery that the British navy can fight effectively from the sky as well as from the waves needs no understanding in this total war between two great powers and one great sea power.

It is pertinent, however, to follow the ripples from Taranto
to other parts of the world.

The news could not have been lost on M. Molotoff, Soviet Russia's premier and foreign com-missar, who is on his way back home from Berlin today after having talked to Adolf Hitler, presumably concerning Germany's need for at least passive Russian support for a Balkan and near eastern land thrust intended to outflank the British fleet in the Far East.

Little is to be deduced from the German communiqué issued today, which says merely that the Molotoff-Hitler conferences "led to mutual agreement" on the important things in which both Germany and Russia are interested. It could hardly have said less.

The Turks, moreover, must be heavily under the impression that it is the Turkish guard the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, the Turks who hold the land bridge over which Germany may want to cross to the Near East and Suez.

JAPANESE MAP NEW MOVE ON INDO-CHINA

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—Foreign diplomats expected today that Japan was preparing for another move in the near future against French Indo-China, possibly ending the shaky sovereignty of that French colony.

Chinese newspapers contended Japan was aiming at permanent occupation of all French Indo-China.

Chinese reported new Japanese demands on the colony included
the right to land troops at the southern port of Saigon, circulation of Japanese military val-lue throughout the country and
"loans" of 500,000 Indo-China dollars a month to finance exports to Japan.

Foreign sources lacked information whether such demands actually had been presented, but said
current developments did point to another Japanese move against Indo-China in the near future.

For especially the attention of Mr. Hecox.
My hat off to you my brave good man.
My motto to all is fair dealing.
And my apology to all as best I can,
For I wished not to hurt your feelings.

For I cared not who won the big fight;
It meant nothing at all to me.
For either I am sure would do what is right
For the land of the brave and the free.

So let's stand side by side in this country of ours
And play on the fife and the drum.
And say to the world with our banner unfurled,
You had better salute if you come.

RESPONSIBILITY
Editor of The Star:
The opponents of the first (and, we hope, the last) third-term president, can render their country, and their fellow citizens, no greater service than to remind the victors who have so willfully overthrown a traditional restraint on great and dangerous executive powers that, in so violating a principle deeply sacred to many millions, they have assumed the gravest responsibility.
Whatever evil tyrannies and arbitrary abuse of power may arise, at any future time, as a result of this ruthless destruction of a carefully guarded restraint on power is their responsibility and theirs alone.
Whatever chaos, misery and conflict may come with the final collapse of artificial borrowed money prosperity when the armaments boom inevitably ends, and a mountainous debt makes further borrowing impossible, is theirs and theirs alone.
Finally, their is the solemn and awful responsibility should the belligerent acts of a third-term president, unrestrained by an opposition in congress strong enough to be effective, plunge this nation into the grim tragedy of war. Breaking a great and long-respected tradition is not the casual thing that many may have thought it was. By thus ignoring our warnings and overriding our sincere judgment, the victors have taken on themselves all responsibility whatsoever for the consequences, be they what they may.

GOV. BRICKER SEES WORST U. S. DANGER FROM WITHIN

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, Nov. 13—Cincinnati club members had today the assurance of Gov. Bricker that "the United States is secure from enemies from without," and also his warning never to relax vigilance to see that this government, the greatest in the history of the earth, does not crumble from within.

Speaking at the club's annual dinner, the governor said foreign powers "can't even cross the English channel, let alone the Atlantic ocean."

He warned, however, of a threat to constitutional government in expanded federal power.

NOT TO THE MEDICINE CHEST

Don't blame it on "that stuffy classroom" or that poetry he had at dinner. One child of every five suffers headache, nervousness and digestive disorder because of uncorrected defective vision. Have his eyes examined! It is one way of getting to the real trouble.

Come On, Sam, Act Your Age

ANY school child knows why Latin America is important to the United States. This country needs the support of the 21 Latin American republics to make hemispheric security an actuality. It needs their sympathy, their commerce and their political cooperation, and it intends to get them, despite competition from European countries. This is a national policy and needs to be understood.

Yet, for some strange reason Uncle Sam is twisting and squirreling like a self-conscious boy asking for his first date. Apologists say there is too much self-interest involved to make friendship with Latin America disinterested. Latin Americans will suspect that an ax is being ground, as if they didn't know an ax was being ground too.

Certainly self-interest is behind the attempt to establish closer ties with Latin America. It's the motive for European and Japanese overtures, also. The United States hopes to gain something and also hopes to give back something. Americans have a hunch they're going to give back considerably more than the authoritarian states.

What's said about the good neighbor policy in Ohio won't cut any ice in Chile, but nevertheless it's puzzling in Ohio to hear that Uncle Sam is self-conscious about making overtures to the nations south of the border. Wherever did a case-hardened old gent like him get the idea that enlightened selfishness was something to be ashamed of?

It Worked Once

ARMY men are hard nuts to crack with a new idea, unless the idea has been proved successful in combat. Then they clasp it to their bosoms and refuse to give it up until another new idea comes along. The French snuffed at artillery in 1914 and had made a fetish of it by 1918. In 1940 they were still depending on it, 16 years after the Germans had learned how to use bombs. The Poles charged Nazi armored cars and tanks on horseback. Cavalry worked once, and they couldn't believe it wouldn't work again.

Germany has set the pace for modern warfare. Every country on earth is trying to imitate its improved techniques of attack. They are all thinking of fighting in the future with motorized units, just as everybody—except the Germans—thought of fighting this war with underground fortifications, hangover from trench warfare. Every new idea is adopted with the zeal of a Japanese designer copying U. S. patent numbers off a machine he is going to imitate.

All of which leads up to the war department's announcement that it is buying $82,000 worth of ski and snowshoe equipment and will organize several combat divisions patterned after Finland's famed ski troops, which were sensational in the fight to repel the Russians up inside the arctic circle.

Postlude

THE losers are pulling in their lower lip and grinning. Mark that down to the everlasting glory of America. The winners are taking their victory graciously—and mark that down, too. Call it sportsmanship, call it philosophy, call it democracy—we still have it, and it's the best thing we do have.

Nothing can upset political stability while we keep it. There's room in this country for honest differences of opinion, and a difference of opinion can be resolved by putting on a slip of paper instead of using it to mark the spot where violence was done.

Tolerance is the essence of freedom—not an essence stored in a bottle, but something in the hearts and minds of people. The other fellow may be wrong as sin, but he's entitled to his opinion. If he gets voted down, he doesn't have to scurry underground to save his neck. If he gets voted up, he doesn't try to chase the other fellow underground. Antagonists take their revenge in kidding and ribbing.

That's America. That's national unity. That's freedom, the one thing on which there's no difference of opinion.

The Truth That Endures

SPEECHES made in the course of a campaign are soon forgotten, but the truth in them endures. An elderly man, with the memory of many campaigns to draw on, writes in to say that out of all he heard and read this year one thing impresses him more deeply than all the rest. He passes it along as a quotation used in a speech by one of the Republicans, it matters not which one now. A workman in France is talking about his country. "We persisted in leveling the nation down, in imagining that the state would prove an everlasting milch cow. Our awakening has been rude... we old men must do all we can to help morally and materially. We are about to become slaves, but I am convinced that adversity will weld the nation. We shall have to bow our heads but no force on earth will be able to break our hearts. Tell this to the Americans, warn them at the same time of the perils that may befall democracy everywhere when it forgets free men have duties as well as rights."

News Behind the News

Here Are Some Forecasts About What New Deal Third Term May Bring.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—These are the further steps of which the prime New Deal movers are talking, the thoughts which may be pressed, trimmed, or expanded to make the dominant policies of the third term:

Debt—The budget-making formula of the government will have to be revised. A double entry system will have to be effected along lines which Mr. Roosevelt first suggested in his budget message last year. Expenditures which could be considered "investments" should be kept separate from ordinary running expenses. Instead of charging up a $50,000,000 expenditure for a road, or a ship, only the depreciable annual proportion of the cost should be considered on the red side of the treasury ledger.

How far Mr. Roosevelt will carry the point cannot even be guessed now, but preparations for a new kind of federal budget on that basis are actually being made within some government departments. The New Deal viewpoint is that large business firms, like General Motors, do not count capital expenditures as a loss annual loss, so why should the government?

If Mr. Roosevelt chooses to limit the new budget system to what could strictly be called actual capital investments, the difference would not be great. The main effect would be to spread out bookkeeping charges—not the cash cost—upon future years. But if he chooses to apply it generally to roads, ships and buildings, as well as bridges, he can revise the debt prospects and the whole stated financial condition of the treasury to a radical extent.

Taxes—A complete revision of the tax structure is deemed necessary. A committee representing all various interested groups should be selected to study methods of siphoning out savings from the private and corporate pocket and bankbook. Or, as some want it, to prevent the accumulation of savings in the future to such an extent as in the past, while leaving the past alone. On its face this seems to call for much higher income taxes all along the line, the revenue to be paid out in government expenditures, and thus keep money flowing.

A reduction in consumers taxes on theaters, tobacco, etc., is likewise favored by many New Deal economists as a means of encouraging expenditures for consumers goods.

Business Controls—The New Dealers see that the vastly expanded business activity coming as a result of the rearmament program will require controls as to prices, production, labor, etc., but the only two items they are taking about yet are priorities and prices. Stronger steps by the national defense commission to require prior consideration by industry for all needed government defense materials, will undoubtedly come soon. Price restrictions will have to be imposed as production gathers momentum months hence. Some are saying no stronger absolute price controls will be needed until the general level goes substantially higher.

State Socialism?—The New Deal thinkers (Henderson, Frank, Gilbert, et al) are agreed in saying they do not want the government to build for its own operation any more defense factories than are absolutely necessary, and do not want these factories to be operated by the government beyond the existing crisis. If additional steel capacity, for instance, is needed, and the industry is unable or unwilling to undertake the construction, they seem to favor the government doing the job, but they insist they would dispose of the government's interest in the factories when the period of emergency is over. They talk strong for private ownership.

Fascism?—The New Deal thinkers cringe at the mention of the word. The controls they see as necessary over production, labor, prices are not the same as similar controls operated by fascist states. To their minds Fascism is an industrially controlled state, and Communism a labor controlled state. In between they seem to think there can be a democratically controlled state (although they do not put it just that way).

Mr. Roosevelt can do as little or as much of all this as he chooses—or more.

Same Mrs. Roosevelt

Eleanor Still a National Issue—Probably Will Continue To Be.

By SIGMUND ARNE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—These past few months of bitter political wrangling have seen the personality of a woman almost as much of an issue as WPA or TVA.

That has never happened in this country before.

But Eleanor Roosevelt went—and quite probably will continue to be—a national issue.

The lady, herself, went "off the record" for the campaign or as nearly "off the record" as a woman can who is a seasoned political campaigner and who, as does her husband, "likes a good fight."

She went off the record after a dramatic air trip to the Chicago convention in July to make a brief speech. It was hoped her appearance would heal the wounds of that meeting.

The President, in a radio speech to the convention, referred to "my good wife," thereby recognizing publicly among his party workers that his wife is a party force to reckon with, either on or off the record.

Saw More Of Family

In 1936, as well as this year, Mrs. Roosevelt took advantage of the campaign to see more of her family. Roosevelt critics pointed out that Mrs. Roosevelt thereby created a picture that certainly couldn't hurt a campaign. But her friends reported that she looks forward to her off-the-record spells with the family.

In spite of her efforts to "lie low," she was an issue.

She was attacked for belonging to the American Newspaper Guild.

That charge brought her "on the record." To the press she stated that no member has a right to leave an organization until he has done his best to make the organization "useful." She added that she would remain in the Guild to fight the Communists.

Some of her New York neighbors donned campaign buttons that read "We don't want Eleanor either." This she ignored.

She was lured out of her political silence again, however, when her son Elliott enlisted in the army and was appointed a captain.

She said, "I think it was the right thing for him to do. He never would have been taken in the draft. You know he is 30, and has a wife and two children."

New Wardrobe Cue

In the heat of the campaign she took time to buy a fall wardrobe. Six costumes, which were called her "campaign outfits." That brought a laugh from her and a statement that she would take no part in the campaign.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

It was supposed that Mrs. Roosevelt would want to be present for her son's sake.

So the union wrote her that it would withdraw the picket line for the opening night if she wanted to attend. She had refused at other times to walk through picket lines.

She solved the tangle by saying she had not planned to attend.

No Changes Likely

In the four years to come she is likely to take a lead from her husband's victory speech at Hyde Park when he said, "You will find me the same Franklin Roosevelt you have known for many years."

Eleanor Roosevelt is not likely to drop her constant interest in N.Y.A., housing, food plans, and what not. She takes her appearances seriously, so seriously that she over-rode friends' advice in Washington one day when she had five scheduled appearances and a sixth was asked by a group running off a small charity bazaar. The place would be crowded, stuffy. She could say "no," and plead an already full program.

She decided to go. Her reason: "You know they'll sell more if I attend. People do continue to show up just to see the President's wife, no matter who she is."

The War a Year Ago

NOV. 14, 1939
By The United Press

British Admiralty announced loss of first destroyer in the war. Nazi government notified Belgium and the Netherlands of their peace proposals.

French Western Front reported increased activity of patrols.

Four merchant ships lost in submarine warfare—three British and one Norwegian.

American casualties in the World war were 126,000 killed, 234,000 wounded and 4,500 taken prisoner or missing.

SHOWING HIS UGLY HEAD AGAIN

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 14, 1930. Marion banks and one building and loan company reported that Christmas savings deposits, to be distributed Dec. 10, would total $141,500.

The Marion County Future Farmers of America band, the only one in the United States, was completing preparations to leave Sunday for Kansas City Mo., to attend the organization's national convention. The band was under the direction of Oscar Kaehler of Pleasant Township.

The Democratic county executive committee chairman, Dr. C. J. Altmaier, announced that the committee had endorsed Chester Cosgrove and Millard Baldwin for appointment as deputies of Sheriff-elect Charles Fye.

Earl H. Miller was reelected master of Montgomery grange. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Knapp of South Bend, Ind., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Guthrie of Mt. Vernon avenue.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 14, 1920. A gasoline powered train carrying President-elect Harding and party through Texas over the little Rio Grande railway broke down in an isolated prairie district. Chilled by cold winds that penetrated the flimsy coaches, members of the party were taken to Point Isabel, where they were quartered at a small hotel and later had dinner in what was described as a "dingy Mexican restaurant."

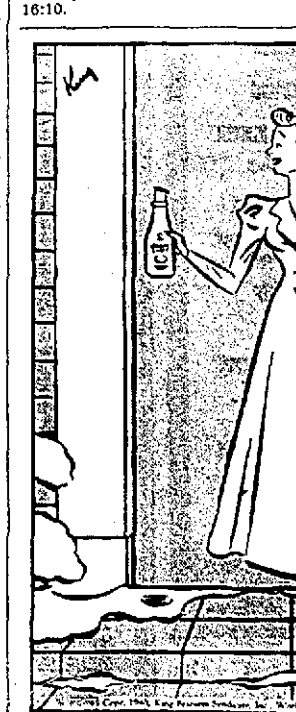

Launching the fourth roll call of the Marion county Red Cross, a cast of local performers gave three presentations of a pageant, "The Red Cross of Peace," at the Grand theater under the direction of Mrs. Rodney Hume.

The Marion Questions, the city's representative football team, although crippled by absence of several regulars, defeated the Golden Hill Athletic club on the local gridiron 20-0. Lewis made two touchdowns for Marion and McFarland one.

Today and Tomorrow

Willkie's Speech on Function of Opposition Touches on Old Problem.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

ON MONDAY EVENING Mr. Willkie was concerned with a question to which as yet no one has ever found a really satisfactory answer. It is how under our political arrangements an ex-president or an ex-candidate for president is to play an effective part in public life. For one of the greatest defects of our political system, perhaps its greatest weakness as compared with the parliamentary system, is that there is no recognized and responsible and useful role provided for men who, as president, have acquired invaluable experience in high office or, as candidates, have earned the intense loyalty of an important part of the electorate.

Under the parliamentary system men like ex-President Hoover, men like Al Smith and Wendell Willkie, continue to take a normal part in the daily task of governing the country. For they remain members of the legislature and they have a recognized place in the councils and the acts of their party. Thus their experience counts, and what is no less important, they themselves continue to grow in experience by making responsible and practical decisions on the real issues of their time. But under our system they become outsiders—having neither office, nor continued and first-hand access to the affairs of government, nor even a definite and responsible relationship to the elected representatives from their own party. This is a most unsatisfactory state of affairs.

It means that during the long four years' interval between one election and the next national convention the policies of the opposition party are determined largely by the local views and interests of the senators and representatives. It means that the man who was the national leader, as president or as candidate, is relegated to the role of a back-seat driver.

If Mr. Willkie can find the answer to this difficulty, he may set a precedent that will be a lasting contribution to the American political system. But a problem which none of his predecessors has known how to solve is not likely to be solved one week after a bitter election, and it was evident, it seems to me, from Mr. Willkie's speech that he is puzzled and troubled by the problem and that he has not yet had the leisure to consider it thoroughly.

Thus again and again he referred to "the minority" of 22 millions who voted for him but he omitted, surely not by mere oversight, to mention the name of the Republican party of which he is the nominee. He referred also to the principles for which he had campaigned, and announced a five-point economic program which "we can offer." Yet though these recommendations as to taxes and appropriations have first to be adopted by the Republican senators and representatives before they can be translated from generalities into a legislative program, Mr. Willkie never once referred to the elected representatives of the Republican party in the congress of the United States. Thus, although he insisted, quite rightly, that "ours is a two-party system" he never professed to speak for the party to which he belongs and never reminded his listeners that the constitutional organ of "the opposition" is the Republican representation in congress.

Mr. Willkie's avoidance of a discussion of these basic realities of the two-party system was due presumably to the unfortunate fact that no man in his position has any recognized role in the party system. Mr. Willkie could not know on Monday evening whether he is able to speak for and is able to lead the Republican opposition in congress. Even this summer, when he was the national candidate of the party, he could not speak for and could not lead his party in congress. He must have even greater doubts now whether he can lead his party as a political organization.

Not Party Leader

As a matter of fact he cannot lead it. He can only influence it more or less depending upon whether his personal prestige grows or diminishes. No doubt he realizes this, and this is the reason, it would seem, why on Monday evening he presented himself not as the official leader of the Republican party but as the spokesman of "a minority" of 22 million citizens who are "to express yourselves freely and openly to those who represent you in your state and national government." If this conception of a "minority of 22 millions" led by a private citizen and expressing itself to and not through its representatives is seriously meant, and is not, as it most likely is, something left over from the fever of the campaign, it is to say the least a most unhappy convention.

For one thing, a most important fact, the 22 millions who voted for Mr. Willkie are no more "the minority" than are the 27 millions who voted for Mr. Roosevelt "the majority." They are all American citizens with absolutely equal rights, and any attempt to make them conscious of themselves as a separated part of the population is inadmissible under the American conception of government. The Republican party is the majority party in that it did not elect the president or as many representatives and senators as did the Democratic party. But the people who voted the Republican ticket are not "a minority"; they are an indispensable part of the nation.

Strike Your Color

Oh for the Day When a Chilly Can Wear Red Underwear Just Like the Outdoor Female.

By DAMON RUNYON

WE notice that ladies who go in for under and winter sports are wearing underwearer neath their outer sports ments. When we say we notice it, we mean we notice it from actual visual evidence of course. We notice it from window dis confirmed in part by cautious inquiry of ladies of our acquaintance. Some of whom, we are pained to say, seemed to feel our quest for knowledge indicated indelicacy of interest.

The fashion, we are informed, is fire-engine red, which is a red so red that the sight of it would cause a gentleman cow to moo in anguish and cut up rough. However, it is not apparent that the ladies affecting this color in their woolen underwearer have any intention of making display of same in places where gentlemen men cows abound, so let us not concern selves about that. Fire engine red is a throw back to the early days of this republic, both men and women wore woolen under of that color, not as a passing fad, but matter of comfort.

Reason for the red color was, we say, the fact that it came handier in that it looked warmer than any other shade. Pa it traces back to the red coats of the B soldiers. Another reason may have been the red did not show soil as readily as other c which was no doubt quite important in when a lady or gentleman could have their derwearer laundered only now and then.

NEARLY all city firemen throughout United States used to wear thick, breastst outer shirts of flannel of violent which matched the color of their gametone that endures on the latter to this Hence the name fire engine red. The outer eliminated the need for coats and still kept fireman warm when discharging the fun of their office. They used to look might posing on the boys in parades, too.

The trend of the ladies toward woolen derwearer, even just in winter sports, lead the hope this type of underwearer may regain general vogue, especially among gentlemen believe the compulsory wearing of woolen derwearer at certain seasons of the year, as this would make for the well-being of kind. We would like to wear it ourself, be deterred by consideration of fashion. We rather be killed by inches by the cold wind wait through 37th street than be out of fa

We think many gentlemen feel the way. They suffer in thin summer under and shorts through the winter rather than unfashionable. We have pondered this tion at length and think if we could i Maury Paul or Lucius Beebe or some c other gentlemen style-setters to walk swagger theatrical opening or night club swayed only in woolen underwearer and high it would help a lot in turning gentlemen to comfort and to greater health. The would not necessarily have to be red. We fancy a light shade of cerise.

OR if we could get the fellow who "what the man will wear" in the t programs to boost woolen underwearer it would help. He came out and boldly claimed woolen underwearer and high and low woolen underdrawers were the "d r" in style, then none of us went w ashamed to h'ist our trousers legs and d that evidence of warm comfort that would we fear, cause smirks of amusement amon fellow men. Gentlemen, it is clear that we lot of cowards—slaves of fashion.

However, we are told there are sects the country where men are still men and their woolen underwearer without reference dictates of style. They just put it on wh weather gets cold and take it off wh weather gets warm. It is news of this t that strengthens our confidence in the st of the nation. It is a spirit of independence we admire, and wish we could emulate without a Paul or a Beebe to lead us, can we?

A Study in Weights

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

ITHACA, N. Y.—The belief that over persons have shorter lives is the basis unusual test on white rats at Cornell Uni-

One group has been kept thin by red in fool calories; another by AS LONG BUT IT SURE IS FUN!

Both groups have lived longer than fat rats although there has been a limit to beneficial thinness. When the weight has fallen below a certain level, the life span has been shortened.

These facts were reported by Dr. C. H. McCay, professor of nutrition, to the Am Dietetic Association.

He concluded that the rats with an in diate body weight could live the longest. "This study," he added, "shows that the stress upon vitamins and proteins does cause us to ignore the significance of the of body fatness and caloric intake."

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F. DODDS

Sentimental curiosity prompted Simon F whose life added a page to Ohio his return to the old trail by which he esca Indian captors.

About 1830 John Caroway, pioneer far siding east of Wilmington, observed a man leisurely walking along a nearby ro man appeared to be taking careful note landmarks.

Caroway, inquiring, learned that the walker was Simon Kenton. The old Indian said he was retracing the route of his years before.

Ensuing conversation revealed that was at the time living along the Mad r Ohio near the spot where he had been captive by the Indians. Kenton said he r the heavy stand of timber on Caroway's was the same he had passed years before.

Pitfalls of Love

A Sequel to "Marriage Meddlers"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Has a Suspicion That That Carolyn Brixton Could Unravel the Mystery of Marion's Disappearance.

"YES, THIS is Miss Whitlock," came the answer to my telephone call, and at the sound of calm, competent voice of the nurse who had helped us so signally through the near tragedy of Jack Leslie's death, I felt my heart and his fingers were leading me through the farmhouse, I felt my spirit rise in answer to her strength.

Even more valuable had been her aid after Jackie Leslie's death by his own hand, and the capture of his entire gang had left the farmhouse a beleaguered fortress. For it was she who, with some aid from Katherine, had nursed Edith Fairfax through the dangerously severe attack of nervous exhaustion following her confession of her part in Jack Leslie's plot. More than once had we despaired of Edith's life, but Miss Whitlock had nulled her through, and when she had recovered sufficiently to go to the home of her sister, Lella Burke, in Marilyn, Edith acknowledged, with the rest of us, that she owed her life to the nurse's skill and faithfulness.

"This is Mrs. Graham," I said, and heard her cheery chuckle.

"That is superfluous information," she said, "I should know your voice anywhere. But I do hope you don't need me professionally."

"Why?" I asked in quick alarm. "Are you on a case?"

A Companion for Lillian

"No, indeed," she replied, "and I fancy you know I would rather come to you than anybody else. It's simply that I think you've had your share of troubles and anxieties. But tell me how I can serve you."

"I want you to go to Mrs. Underwood's," I gave her the address—"at once, and remain with her until I get there. She has had bad news—I cannot tell you what until I have her permission. But she needs somebody—preferably you—with her. Tell her I sent you, and that I told you only that she had had bad news. But do not leave her no matter what she says."

"Unless she throws me out bodily—and I'm pretty husky," she said with a little laugh, "I'll be there when you arrive."

"I know you will," I said, and hung up the receiver.

"What can I do, Madge?" Katherine's voice, with a note of anxiety, came to my ears before I turned away from the telephone.

Carolyn Could Tell

"Dickie said something about Lil being in trouble, and that you wanted me in a hurry. He said you would explain."

I told her quickly of Marion's disappearance and of Helena Brixton's letter. When I had finished she looked at me queerly.

"I wonder if you agree with what I'm thinking," she said. "I shouldn't wonder," I said. "That you won't need to go any further than Carolyn Brixton to find the reason for all this ruction," she said.

"I'm glad you said that," I said. "It bolsters a rather shaky opinion I held."

"It isn't shaky at all," she persisted. "I'd wager anything on it. Oh! I don't mean necessarily that Carolyn's to blame. But she certainly knows the answer."

"I imagine she does," I said. "She shot a swift glance at me. 'But you haven't time to talk about it,' she said shrewdly. 'Give me your commands instantly.'"

"I'm starting back with Dickie as soon as we've had a bite to eat and some coffee," I said. "Will you pack me a small bag and a suitcase while I'm eating, so we can start immediately afterward? I don't know how long I'll be gone or where I shall have to go, but one thing is evident, I shan't need any trills or evening things."

"I'll attend to everything," she promised. "Go on down and eat."

I obeyed her, knowing that when she had finished my packing I would have everything in even better shape than if I did it myself. But Dickie and I barely had finished eating when the telephone rang, and going to it, I heard Marion's voice on the wire.

Miss Mary Eyster attended a tea and luncheon of the Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority Saturday. The winners of the Prince of Peace contest held in the three churches Sunday were Louis Jeffries at Boundary, Marjorie Haserodt at Edison and Christine Dallas at Denmark. Further contestants were Lois Williams at Boundary, Marilyn Cronenwett at Edison and Susan Myers and Barbara Hipshier at Denmark.

MARION MAN TO TALK AT RICHWOOD SUNDAY

RICHWOOD, O., Nov. 14—Harvey T. Gracely, general sales supervisor for Marion Steam Shovel Co., will speak at the Sunday night public forum at First Baptist church. He will present the business man's viewpoint on the subject, "Is Christianity Workable in Everyday Life?" The program will start at 7:30 and will include songs by the senior choir and a question and answer period after the address.

FOREST JUNIOR CLASS PLAY CAST ANNOUNCED

Old Marion Church Group Disappears As Members Join Harmonie Society

LAST of Marion's German-speaking church organizations passed out of existence yesterday when the Ladies Aid society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church combined with the Harmonie society.

The consolidation followed the many months of friendly cooperation between the two groups and the two groups met at the Harmonie society's headquarters, 100 South State street, vice president of the Harmonie society. The name, Harmonie society, will designate the organization.

The Aid society dates back almost 60 years in the history of Salem church, one of the oldest congregations in the city. The church traces its history to 1843 and to the time in 1843 when a brick building was erected on North State street on Lot No. 1. The church was founded by Ebenezer Baker, founder of Marion.

Had Membership of 60 Until recent years the Aid society was one of the flourishing organizations in the church, with a membership of 60 women whose enterprise and work was responsible for contributions of more than $15,000 to the church. It was distinguished by being the church's oldest organization.

Mrs. Frank Bender is the only living charter member of the society, which was organized Nov. 18, 1882 for the purpose of aiding the church and affording members an opportunity to meet for social purposes.

At these meetings the women liked to speak German, the language of their forefathers. As the years rolled by death began to make its inroads in the membership until now there are only seven members. Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Aaron Schultz, who has held the office of president and treasurer,

Mrs. Herman Gering who has been a member since 1882, Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Adam Kull, Mrs. Mary Burt and Mrs. Adam Kull. They all like to speak German and they are together.

Yesterday only three of the Aid society members were at the meeting. Mrs. Carlene Bender, Mrs. Schultz and Mrs. Gehring.

Given Welcome

Mrs. Schultz gave the response to Mrs. Schaffner's welcome into the Harmonie society.

Following Scripture reading by Mrs. Schaffner the pastor, Rev. H. C. Ahrens, offered prayer. Discussion followed the presentation of the topic, "Must the Local Church Acquire New Vision," by Mrs. Otto Hiltner.

The sum of $23.16 was contributed to the Evangelical and Reformed church fund for European relief work. Arrangements were made for Rev. and Mrs. Ahrens to entertain the society on Dec. 11 at the parsonage on East Church street and for a Christmas party and potluck dinner on Dec. 13 with Mrs. Mary Kull of West Center street. At the Christmas party the women will sew for the needy and will exchange gifts. Mrs. Charles Wick was a guest.

MARION COUPLE MARK FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wayland of 255 South State street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday at their home.

The day was spent quietly. A number of friends called and they received a number of remembrances. Mrs. Wayland was Miss Elmore Hofstetter before her marriage. The couple was married by Rev. Neal, pastor of the Christian church. Mr. Wayland is a retired carpenter.

THE FAVORITE Home NEWSPAPER

I COULD GIVE MYSELF A GOOD... SWIFT... KICK...

I. I MEAN IT... because I've certainly been a "feather-brain", up to now! For ages, people have been telling me how I could save money by buying GOOD LUCK Margarine instead of the spread we've been using for bread! Well, I finally woke up... And today...

2. YOU SHOULD HEAR my husband and youngsters go on about the marvelous, fresh, country flavor of GOOD LUCK. It's simply grand... and it's grand for them, because GOOD LUCK is filled with food-energy, plus plenty of health-giving Vitamin A. GOOD LUCK's goodness, you see, is natural... its freshness is guaranteed by dating, on every package. No other spread, at any cost, has that "Dated-for-Freshness" guarantee!

3. BUT WHY WAIT until you feel like kicking yourself... as I did! Get a pound of GOOD LUCK tomorrow. It's the most wonderful spread you've ever tasted. And when you use it for cooking and baking, you'll think you're THE home-economics expert of the town! Last—but far from least—think, THINK, of the savings you can show your husband when he foots the bills. GOOD LUCK is UNCONDITIONALLY guaranteed to give complete satisfaction... or your money back.

Some Thanksgiving Recipes That Clicks

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Writer.

Mince pies and plum puddings! Reappearance of this pair definitely heralds the holidays. You'd better get some practice in making up these winter stand-bys so you can turn them out at top speed when Thanksgiving arrives.

Here are recipes that click. They can be used all winter. Some are brand new; others are faintly doctored to meet changing times, varying pocketbooks and whimsical moods.

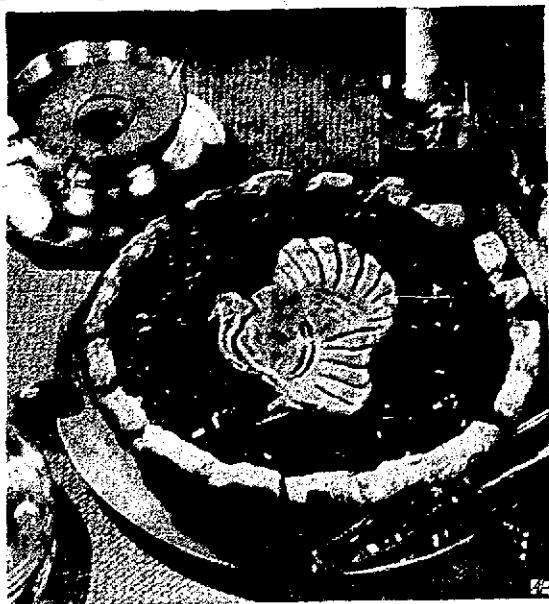

Mince Meat and Cranberries. Mince meat, mixed with a tantalizing flavor. Mix 2 cups of prepared mince meat with 1/2 cup raisins and pour into an unbaked pie crust. Cover with a cup of cranberries, mixed thoroughly with 2/3 cup granulated sugar, a tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Pour 1/4 cup orange or spiced peach juice over the filling and cover with a top crust. Bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven, then lower the heat and bake 35 more minutes.

Mince meat is improved when moistened with leftover fruit juices, orange juice, cider or spiced fruit liquid. Or brandy for those who want it. About a fourth cup of liquid per pie is ample.

Always serve Mince Pie hot. To reheat it, carefully cover with a pie tin and leave it for 10 minutes in a moderate oven. You can sprinkle grated cheese over the top crust before it is heated. The cheese will melt and form a crusty, brown topper with a delicious flavor. Mince pies made up a day or so ahead should be stored in a cool place.

For those waist-watchers who love rich foods but cannot often indulge, this Fruit Pie is grand and not so heavy as mince pie. Mix a cup of sugar with 1/4 cup flour, 1/3 teaspoon salt and 1/3 cup each of apricot, orange, prune and lemon juices. Cook slowly until thick. Stir constantly. Add 1/3 cup each chopped cooked prunes, apricots and figs. Add 1/3 cup broken nuts, 1/2 cup raisins and pour into a crimped pie pan. Cover with strips of pastry, criss-cross fashion. Bake 10 minutes at about 450 degrees. Lower the heat and bake 25 more minutes.

Steamed Fruit Pudding. Steam-bury is less rich than most plum puddings but equally as good.

Soak 2 cups of bread crumbs half an hour in a cup of hot milk. Add a cup of chopped suet, cup of dark brown sugar, 3 eggs, beaten, 1/4 cup fruit juices (any kinds), 1/2 teaspoon each of vanilla, cinnamon, cloves and grated orange rind, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup sugar and a cup each of chopped prunes, dates and figs. 1/2 cup each chopped citron, nuts and candied fruit peels (assorted). Half fill greased pudding mold and steam 3 hours. Serve hot with hard sauce or sherry or fruit liquid sauce.

Carrot Pudding. Emerson in a new version of an old standby. It fits the leaner pocketbooks and helps keep down the calorie counts. Mix 1/4 cup each of flour, grated raw carrots, grated raw potatoes, raisins, figs, currants and dates. Add 2/3 cup light brown sugar, a teaspoon each of salt, baking powder, cinnamon and soda, 1/2 teaspoon each of vanilla, mace and cloves and 1/4 cup milk. Half fill a buttered mold, cover tightly and steam 2 1/2 hours. Serve hot with orange creamy sauce.

POPULAR RECIPE FOR POULTRY STUFFING

A favorite cooking school request is for a light stuffing that is preferred by many to the soft, moist, or compact type of stuffing. For a more moist stuffing, add 1/2 cup hot water.

Seasoning of dressing is always a subject of debate. Many cooks like to use a poultry seasoning, restricting the sage to 1 teaspoon, rather than the tablespoon suggested here. Another flavoring addition is 1/2 teaspoon thyme, or 1 to 2 teaspoons of any cooking sauce. This quantity makes enough dressing for a 10 pound bird.

Three quarts stale bread crumbs (not hard), 6 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sage, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup shortening

(or butter), 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Combine the crumbs, salt, sage, celery, parsley and pepper. Melt the shortening in a frying pan over low heat, using half butter. If desired, add the chopped onion, simmering gently until the onion is tender. Then add the seasoned bread crumbs. Stir over low heat until the crumbs are browned.

In stuffing the turkey, fill both the cavity and the space from which the crop is removed. Then, using strong thread, sew up the incision in the skin through which the stuffing was inserted.

Note: If the inside of the fowl is rubbed thoroughly with salt, after washing, reduce the salt used in stuffing by about one-half. Giblets usually are covered with boiling water and cooked separately with seasonings. When tender, chop finely and add to gravy.

Opera Star Also Shines As an Expert in Cooking

Dear Friends in Marion: Busy homemakers are inclined to be skeptical when they read stories about glamorous celebrities who reach for an apron on the slightest provocation and head for the kitchen.

However there is one Metropolitan Opera star who has proved conclusively to her admiring friends that her ability to collect—and concoct—recipes, is no legend. The star who is as versatile in her cooking as in her operatic roles is Marjorie Lawrence. Her concert and operatic tours have taken her all over the United States, Europe, South America, Australia and Asia—and in each state and country she has added to her collection of recipes, until today she has one of the finest in the world.

Miss Lawrence's early interest in cooking was not a whim; it was economics. At 18, she ran away from her father's ranch, because she wanted to be an opera star, and her father wouldn't let her. She arrived in Melbourne, 90 miles away, with about $80 and no prospect of a job.

Ever resourceful, the runaway answered an ad in the papers for a cook and read her first cookbook—after she was hired. Miss Lawrence has been reading cook books ever since. Today, when she is recognized as one of the most dramatic sopranos that the Metropolitan has ever known, and her income is such that she could hire 10 cooks, she still gets a thrill from turning out some delectable dish in the kitchenette of her New York City apartment hotel.

Just back from South America, where she has been singing with the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires, Miss Lawrence has a new culinary enthusiasm—Latin-American dishes. However, she warns her friends:

"Don't come to my house for a South American meal unless you like highly flavored food. Argentinians love peppers and they use them for everything but dessert."

Most of the South American recipes call for chili peppers, garlic and generous seasonings. Among the star's favorites from her Australian homeland is this appetizing method of boiled mutton or lamb, with parsley sauce, which can be prepared in any kitchen:

Boiled Lamb with Parsley Sauce
Leg or shoulder, lamb or mutton; parsley sauce.

Wipe meat with cloth wrung out in hot water. Weigh and allow 20 minutes cooking for each pound of meat and 20 minutes "for the pot." Plunge meat into boiling water. Boil 5 minutes, then simmer for the remaining time. Lift to hot dish, pour the sauce over the meat and serve in tureen.

Parsley Sauce
One oz. butter (2 tablespoons), 1 cup milk or water, 1 teaspoon flour, salt to taste, chopped parsley (1/3 cup).

Melt butter in small saucepan and add flour and salt, stirring over low heat until smooth. Then add liquid gradually. Stir until sauce thickens and boils. Boil gently about 5 minutes and add chopped parsley. This dish usually is served with boiled potatoes, cauliflower or white turnips.

From South America comes Feijao, pronounced "Fay-yan".

This dish is very popular in Brazil. It is made with Brazilian black beans, which first are soaked in water for 12 hours. Ordinary black beans can be substituted. After soaking, the beans are put in cold water and simmered for several hours. Prepare a sauce by frying 2 or 3 finely-chopped onions in shortening (or with diced bacon) until tender. Add a can of tomato sauce and season well with salt and pepper. Sometimes pork or sausage, "chorizos" are added also. These should be fried separately in butterially cooked sausage. Place in baking utensil and sprinkle with sugar. Add the water, cover and bake in moderate oven 375 degrees F. until apples are tender and sausage is cooked. Serve in the baking utensil or on hot platter, garnished with watercress.

Col. Black Urges Strict Observance of School Bus Stop

The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—More strict observance of the "bus-stop" law was advocated today by the Ohio highway patrol, to offset a great increase in accidents involving the vehicles.

Lynn Black, superintendent of the highway patrol, emphasized that motorists, upon a school bus loading or unloading passengers, must stop the bus and remain there until the bus resumes travel. "It must be made regardless of whether the bus is approached from the front or rear," he added.

"It is a good policy," he added, "to slow down and stop as soon as they see a school bus."

The highway patrol investigated 10 accidents involving school buses last year, as compared with 19 in 1939. Sixty accidents have been reported this year, and in some cases persons were killed and injured.

"The majority of motorists to stop and wait while driving were primarily responsible," he said.

The patrol has asked the state department of education to require that school bus drivers discontinue the pupils on their home side of the road so that they will be able to cross the highway.

Incidentally, the highway patrol will be 7 years old tomorrow.

Established Nov. 15, 1933, with 10 patrolmen, it now has 200 in addition to 30 radio operators dispatched among 31 stations, five of them with radio transmitters.

Damages Sought

Identical suits seeking $10,500 damages were filed here in common pleas court yesterday against Mag Brothers Transit Co., Inc., of Marion and Fredrick Lines Inc., of Columbus, by Ned V. Van Doren of Toledo. He asks $500 for medical expense and $10,000 for personal injuries suffered by his wife as the result of a bus-and-car collision on North Main street near Fairview street, Nov. 21, 1936. He contends the accident was caused by the negligence of the bus operator, Carl Schaefer, an agent of the defendant companies. He is represented by Brady & Gallagher of Toledo and Wilhelm & Robinson of Marion.

MORE CAMPAIGN EXPENSES REPORTED

Democratic Committee Lists Expenditure of $1,568.

Five more candidates and the Marion County Democratic central and executive committee have filed expense accounts with the board of elections. The Republicans and several other candidates have only until Friday to file, according to law.

The Democratic committee report, signed by Kenneth Tobin, treasurer, listed expenditures of $1,568.73 during the campaign.

The committee started the campaign with a balance of $223.01 which was bolstered by contributions from candidates until the total was $1,882.79. Thus the committee now has a balance of $282.06.

Candidates' expenses listed individually were:

Harrison Kraus (D) elected commissioner $322; Mrs. Grace Zachman (D) elected recorder, $180; Hector S. Young (D) re-elected common pleas judge $425; Theodore Ochs (D) defeated for prosecutor $258; James E. Reed (R) elected prosecutor $241.

The election board scheduled a meeting for tonight to certify the official vote count and take up other matters.

LIST VACANT HOUSES IN CENSUS BUREAU REPORT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The census bureau reported today that Ohio had 79,990 vacant dwelling units last April 1, or 4.1 per cent of all the 1,974,898 dwelling units in the state.

The report was made on the basis of data from local supervisors. The bureau classified as "vacant" dwellings which were for sale or rent, seasonal dwellings, and those held by or for persons who reported their "homes" were elsewhere.

The percentage of vacancies in the individual states ranged from 3.2 per cent in West Virginia to 15.9 in New Hampshire. It was lowest in the east south-central division of states — Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi — and highest in New England.

The report said the number of private households increased 16.3 per cent throughout the country, compared with a seven per cent increase in the nation's population between 1930 and 1940.

The number of persons per occupied dwelling in the United States as a whole was 3.8 in 1940, compared with 4.1 in 1930.

THE SMOKE'S THE THING!

EXTRA MILDNESS EXTRA COOLNESS EXTRA FLAVOR

AND ANOTHER BIG ADVANTAGE FOR YOU IN CAMELS —

the smoke of slower-burning Camels contains

28% LESS NICOTINE
than the average of the 4 other of the largest-selling cigarettes tested...less than any of them...according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself

WHEN all is said and done, the thing in smoking is the smoke!

Your taste tells you that the smoke of slower-burning Camels gives you extra mildness, extra coolness, extra flavor.

Now Science tells you another important — and welcome — fact about Camel's slower burning.

Less nicotine — in the smoke! 28% less nicotine than the average of the other brands tested — in the smoke! Less than any of them — in the smoke! And it's the smoke that reaches you.

Mark up another advantage for slow burning — and for you!

Try Camels...the slower-burning cigarette...the cigarette with more mildness, more coolness, more flavor, and less nicotine in the smoke! And more smoking, too — as explained below, right.

"SMOKING OUT" THE FACTS about nicotine. Experts, chemists analyze the smoke of 5 of the largest-selling brands...find that the smoke of slower-burning Camels contains less nicotine than any of the other brands tested.

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 4 other of the largest-selling brands tested — slower than any of them — Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to

State's Members of Congress Back After Election

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Ohio members of the house, most of whom were taking up their duties where they left off before the election.

Among the first to return to the state were Reps. Clarence J. Brown, seventh district Republican, and Michael J. Kirwan, 19th district Democrat, who had lunch Tuesday and congratulated each other on their victories.

Brown is a sharp critic of most New Deal policies, Kirwan an ardent supporter and early proponent of a third term for President Roosevelt.

Also on the job also was Rep. Lewis of the 18th district, a four-term Buckeye Republican, who returned for reelection. The three who lost were Reps. Harry W. Johnson (3rd), James Secamore (10th), and L. L. Marshall (11th).

Returning victors, besides Brown and Kirwan, included Reps. John J. (12th), J. Harry Meyer (17th) and Frederick C. (18th).

As a result of the election Ohio will have 12 Democrats and 12 Republicans in the next session of the house. The present lineup is eight Democrats and 14 Republicans.

The Democratic gains resulted from the defeat of Roush by Ben Halbrook; Secamore by former Rep. Lawrence E. Inhoff; and Marshall by former Representative-at-Large Steven M. (11th).

Rep. James G. Polk (D-15th), retiring voluntarily, will be succeeded by Jacob Davis, also a Democrat. A Republican, A. D. Baumgart Jr., was elected to succeed Rep. Dudley White (R-13th), who lost the senatorial nomination to Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland.

Burton's election to succeed retiring Sen. Vic Donahey (D) gave Ohio's senate seats to Republicans. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) was not up for re-election this year.

Four places on senate committees will be vacated by Donahey. Quitting public life after a career that included three terms as governor of his state and one as senator, Donahey is a member of the commerce, education and labor, interstate commerce, and

Seek Contour, Not Color, in Scenes

This is the fourth of a series of five articles on taking pictures.

By The Associated Press

Amateur photographers are generally at their worst when they do landscapes and street scenes.

What is more boring than an evening spent with someone just returned from a trip with a hundred snapshots? It's a rare thing to see one interesting picture on such an occasion.

The prime reason for this is that people are much more sensitive to color than to shape. The amateur is attracted to a scene because of the blue sky, the green grass and the white house with the green shutters. The color combination gets him and he shoots. By the time the picture comes out in black and white, the point is lost.

Look For Patterns

The problem is to train one's eye to look for shapes and patterns in light and dark. Those are the things the camera can record, the things that make composition and determine whether a picture is worth looking at.

When you see a view you like, determine what there is about it that attracts you. Then aim to make that reason come out in the picture you take.

The acid test of whether you've done a good job is to have someone go through your photographs and guess why you took each one.

The tendency to see in terms of color should be less of a problem when taking street scenes in the city. Here the most interesting material is in the activities of people in the streets or the designs that various shaped buildings make. Your main tools are camera angle and sunlight.

If you are interested in the shapes and contours of buildings there's no sense in taking a shot of a building as the sun is hitting it head on.

It is necessary to watch the light change on a building and make the shot when the sun, by hitting at an angle, emphasizes the contour you are after.

Indian affairs committees. Of particular importance to Ohio is the commerce body which handles flood control and navigation measures.

Take Better Pictures

SHAPES AND PATTERNS in light and dark are the things a camera can record in landscapes like this. Coloring here was good, but it does not make the picture.

COLOR IS LOST in a black and white photograph. This picture, of the same object as caught in the picture above it, lacks contours and the effect is disappointing.

DELAWARE PRESSES BID FOR AIRPLANE FACTORY

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 13 — Three city council members, F. J. Foley, C. H. Richards and Bruce Burgess, this week were appointed to see that prompt and decisive action is taken to obtain the Monarch Aerial Corp. assembly plant for Delaware.

The corporation recently showed interest in locating an assembly plant in Delaware for its line of two-motor "family" planes which will go into production soon. The company indicated that all it would ask would be a building field near which to erect the plant.

Officials of the company are expected to meet with the Delaware Chamber of Commerce on Sunday.

Ohio May Get New Ordnance Plant To Build Mountings for Big Guns

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Ohio may get a big gun mounting plant as a line in the nation's defense program. Reliable sources report that the ordnance bureau of the navy department has completed a survey of sites and narrowed its preferences to four, two of them in eastern Ohio.

The factory, wanted by scores of communities throughout the country, would require approximately 100 acres of land. Selection of a site is expected later this month.

Rep Earl R. Lewis (R) of St. Clairsville had an audience with officers informed that two sites in the eastern Ohio district were considered "favorable" except that part of a highway along the Ohio river ought to be improved to meet requirements of the factory.

John F. Victory, secretary of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, says one of the toughest jobs is denial of rumors regarding location of an airplane engine laboratory for which Congress appropriated $8,400,000.

There have been persistent reports that the laboratory would be located in one or more than a dozen Ohio cities, but Victory has said repeatedly that the committee has made no decision. He declined specifically last week to confirm that the committee favored Cleveland.

"There has been no leaks as to what the committee has in mind on the basis of its surveys," said Victory. "Any reports that this or that city will get the plant is sheer guess."

On June 1, Sen. V. McNamara (D) returned to the capital under a congressional order to consider pressing defense legislation. McNamara said the Senator, who did not seek reelection, preferred to stay in Ohio now that he has retired from public life.

Donor's successor, Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, is expected to devote much effort to a study of relief problems with which he was wrestled in the state's largest city. McNamara is interested in his attitude toward a proposal of Senator Robert A. Taft (R) to reshape the relief program of the Roosevelt administration to place administrative responsibility for state government on the federal government.

The Taft plan for relief would operate in a manner similar to the social security program with contributing to states which met certain requirements.

Rep Thomas A. Jenkins (R) of Ironton isn't certain whether he will renew his efforts to compel payment of Ohio's claim for $1,328,000 of old age pension fund withheld in October 1938 by the social security board.

Before the election, Jenkins said he would make a try "if we get a new president." President Roosevelt vetoed the bill which would have required the board to pay the money withheld as a result of an administrative dispute with former Gov. Dacey.

CLARIDON SOCIETY SETS MEETING FOR NOV. 22

An all-day meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church at Claridon Nov. 22 will be a quilting at the home of Mrs. I. N. Auld. Plans were made Thursday when the members met with Mrs. Laura Aye Myers of the Claridon pike. It was announced that the 37 charter members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church will continue under the name of the Claridon Ladies Aid society. The day was spent quilting.

MARION MAN WRITES FROM CAMP SHELBY

Private C. E. Furniss Tells of Co. D Activities.

Men of Co. D 166th Infantry of Marion, have been issued armaments and this week are engaging in open order drill as it is used on the battlefield, according to a letter received from Camp Shelby at Hattiesburg, Miss., by Mrs. Charles Furniss of near Caledonia from her son, Clifford E. Furniss, a private in the company.

The company has been supplied with regular and anti-aircraft machine guns, anti-tank guns and 81 millimeter guns. The 81's "look like drain pipes in which you drop the shell and then get out of the way or get your head blown off," Private Furniss wrote.

In describing open order drilling, which followed a week of close order drill such as the army uses on parade, he wrote: "We spread out so that no two men are on a line, so that a bullet from the enemy could not hit over one man. All commands are given by hand signals. We may be running like sixty one minute and the next minute be lying flat on our stomachs. In the army, you never know what is going to happen next. They may give you one order and in 10 minutes give an order to do just the opposite.

"We are due to go on maneuvers any time now. We do know we will go on one maneuver that will last 13 weeks. Where we will go no one knows."

He prefers Ohio's cold weather to the weather of Alabama and Mississippi which he described as "hot during the day and cold and damp at night."

There are six men in Private Furniss' tent at camp. Paul Taylor, son of Capt. R. L. Taylor who is commanding officer of Co. D; Corporal Robert D. Garrison who is leader of the squad; Private, First Class, Richard A. Berry, first gunner; Private, First Class, Ralph E. Coffey, second gunner; and Private Denver Richards.

"They are a fine bunch of fellows," in the opinion of Private Furniss. "We are all members of the first squad of the first section of the first platoon of Co. D, which is one company of the first battalion of the 166th Infantry."

WORK STARTED ON NEW MASONIC LODGE

Chesterville Building To Replace One Burned.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, Nov. 14—After several months of inaction while members of the Chesterville Masonic lodge were considering alternative plans for a new temple to replace the one recently destroyed by fire they are now building a modern concrete block structure on the site of the old. The building will be 28 by 70 feet and of two stories with the upper floor devoted entirely to lodge rooms and a dining room and the lower floor to be rented for a retail store.

The architect is Charles Osborn of Marion and the contract was let to Chester Brooks, a member of the lodge. The estimated cost is $7,250. H. E. Williamson, head of the lodge, states that the building will be ready for use early next spring.

The principal part of the cost will be met with insurance received when the lodge rooms were destroyed by fire.

Excavation work was started on Tuesday morning on the site of the old building.

RODMAN-SPENCER VOWS EXCHANGED AT RADNOR

Special to The Star
RADNOR—The marriage of Miss Elvira Rodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rodman of Radnor, and Denzel Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Spencer of south of Delaware, was solemnized Nov. 6 by Rev. J. H. Bradbury, pastor of Radnor Baptist church, at the home of the bride's parents. They were attended by Miss Leah Hedges and Hugh Rodman, brother of the bride. In the early spring they will locate on a farm north of Radnor.

The Ladies Aid society of the Radnor Methodist church met last Thursday with Mrs. Clint Lockhart, with Mrs. Sidney Gray as assistant hostess. Mrs. A. J. Bussard was leader of devotions. Readings were given by Mrs. John Camm, Mrs. Floyd Prouty and Mrs. James Purdy. Guests were Mrs. Cody Morrison, Mrs. Homer Shoaf, Mrs. Powell Yeaser, Mrs. Roy Landon, Mrs. Alice Prichard, Ruth Ellen and Rosemary Prichard, Charles Gray, Barney Bell and Donald Downing.

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis of Radnor of the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Victor H. Elshorn of Marion in Covington, Ky., Nov. 8, 1939. The couple's only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Onay Lynn of Columbus, sister and brother-in-law of the groom. After Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Elshorn will make their home in Bellevue. He is vocational agriculture teacher in nearby Flat Rock school.

RESIGNATION OF BULLITT REJECTED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—WILLIAM C. Bullitt announced today that President Roosevelt had declined to accept his resignation as ambassador to France.

Bullitt issued a statement saying that he had expressed to the President a desire to resign last August and submitted the resignation in writing on Nov. 1.

The ambassador said he had believed he could be of more service to the country if he were free to write and speak without restrictions of public office.

The statement said the President, however, expressed a wish that Bullitt should not resign and that was how the matter stood now.

DRAFT OBJECTORS GET SENTENCES OF ONE YEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Eight theological students who refused to register for selective service were sentenced in federal court today to serve a year and a day in a federal prison to be designated by the attorney general.

The students were "conscientious objectors" from the Union Theological seminary. When they were indicted Oct. 21 for refusing to register in compliance with the selective training and service act they pleaded guilty.

The court accepted U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill's recommendation for sentence, while noting that the maximum term possible was five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

BRICKER FIXES NOV. 21 AS THANKSGIVING DAY

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14—Formerly proclaiming Nov. 21 as Thanksgiving day in Ohio, Gov. Bricker today urged "in this critical hour" the emulation of George Washington "who in our nation's first crisis brought orderly government from chaos."

The governor suggested that flags be displayed as a symbol of patriotism and that Ohioans join in prayer "that we not only will preserve our peace but that by our spirit and strength we may be able to bring about a new day of peace among the nations of the world."

TWO DIE IN FIRE AT FARM HOME NEAR SHELBY

SHELBY, O., Nov. 14—Mrs. Emmett Van Ness, 53, and William Brookner, 70, died today by suffocation in an early morning fire which damaged the second floor of a farm house here. Five other residents escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Van Ness' daughter, Mrs. Cora Perry, discovered flames shooting from the attic and aroused other occupants of the house. All but Brookner, a Spanish-American war veteran and a lodger, fled from the house.

When Brookner failed to appear after saying he would follow her, Mrs. Van Ness returned to see what delayed him. Firemen found their bodies in a second floor bedroom.

Fire Chief Eugene Schull attributed the fire to a defective chimney.

GERMANS CLAIM EIGHT BRITISH SHIPS SUNK

BERLIN, Nov. 14—Destruction of eight British merchant ships, five of them by one submarine and the rest by bombing planes, was claimed today by the high command in continuation of Germany's intensified campaign against vital British shipping.

Severe damage to another vessel was reported.

The time and place of the submarine's forays were not disclosed by the high command commander, but the sinking of 28,940 tons of freight vessels was reported.

In bombing-plane onslaughts against a convoy off Kinnaird Head, "heavily protected by anti-aircraft, a cruiser and other war vessels," the high command said, a 6,000-ton ship was sunk and another was "severely damaged."

Prexies Set for Grid Finale with Tough Akron Kenmore Friday Night

Harding To Defend Prestige of NCO Against Invaders, Ranked High in Rubber City's Circuit.

By CHARLES HOSTETLER
Marion Star Sports Editor

FINAL chapter of the 1940 Marion Harding football season will be written tomorrow night when the Presidents square off opposite Akron Kenmore at 7:45.

Win, lose or draw, their schedule can be described only as "highly successful," so the Prexies have little at stake. They have won seven of eight starts against Kenmore's record of four wins, three losses and a tie.

The victories, four in league competition, brought them a share in the championship of the North Central Ohio conference, the prestige of which they seek to uphold. It will be the first meeting with an Akron team in recent years. Kenmore is among the Rubber City's best, having finished in a tie for runner-up of the metropolitan loop.

Do you want ALL-WINTER RADIATOR PROTECTION FOR ONLY 12¢?

HERE'S the way many car owners do it every year! They put in a couple of quarts of Du Pont "Zerone" early in the season for protection against rusting and sudden cold weather. When it gets really cold, they add enough "Zerone" for lower temperatures. A total of six quarts, put in as needed, can protect a car with an average size cooling system (15 quarts) for the entire winter. And six quarts of "Zerone" cost only $1.20!

Your car may need a little more or less, depending on radiator capacity and the severity of winter. But "Zerone" will save you real money. "Zerone" prevents rust, keeps power losses down, keeps the engine cool, and keeps the radiator clean. In today's market, it's only $1.00 a gallon, 2 1/2 quarts.

The new senior high school auditorium, first used a year ago, will again be the scene of home games. It has a seating capacity of 750.

PORTSMOUTH AND WAITE SCHEDULED FOR NOV. 25

By The Associated Press
PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 14.—Portsmouth High school will have a chance Nov. 25 to avenge last year's defeat by Toledo Waite in the "Buckeye bowl" football game in Columbus.

Officials of the two schools have agreed on a post-season charity game in Toledo on that date.

For Coach Paul Jenkins' Portsmouth squad, the game will be the third in 10 days. Both teams have tills on Thanksgiving day, only four days before the scheduled charity contest.

Toledo football fans and Waite officials expressed pleasure at the signing of Portsmouth as Waite's opponent.

St. Mary To Close Grid Year Tonight As County Cage League Play Stars

Marion St. Mary's season-ending football game with Lima Central Catholic at 8 p. m. on the Harding stadium turf and the curtain-raising contests of the Marion county basketball league give sports fans a diversified program tonight.

Coach Bernard Berens pronounced his squad in excellent condition, with one exception. Tackle Carl Werley, who has played in every game for the last three seasons is confined at his home with a severe cold. He is a senior and would have been making his last appearance in uniform tonight. Coach Berens probably will call on Frank Huber and George Snoup to alternate at the vacant spot.

County cage games will be played tonight and tomorrow night. Four programs comprising the Thursday schedule and a lone non-league contest on the card tomorrow night. Tonight's scheduled games are Prospect, Elmira at Caledonia, at Meeker, Waite at Caledonia, at Meeker, Waite at Caledonia, at Meeker, Waite at Caledonia.

MARQUETTE'S FLASH LEADS GRID GAINERS
Richardson Accounts for 358 Yards in One Thrill.

By The Associated Press
SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—Jimmy Richardson, the "one man gang" from Milwaukee's Marquette university, soared from 12th to first place as the nation's leading gridiron ground gainer with his sensational showing against Manhattan in last week's 45-41 track meet.

Figures released by the American Football Statistical Bureau show that it was no fault of Richardson's that his team lost.

All he did against Manhattan was run the ball 175 yards and pass it 163 for a total of 338 yards of his team's 469 yard net.

His total of 1,555 yards for six games placed him ahead of a couple of 1939 leaders—Johnny Knolla of Creighton and Paul Christman of Missouri. Knolla ran second with 958 yards and Christman rose from eighth to third by boosting his total offensive yardage to 980.

Al Ghequiere of Detroit retained his lead as the top rusher with 782 yards in seven games, substantially topping Tom Harmon with 613.

With snow disrupting the air-mail, no figures were received on Princeton's passing Dave Aldridge, so on the basis of five games he drops to second place as a pass-offensive threat and Washington State college's wiry Bill Sewell ascends to top position.

SAFETY-FILL BATTERIES

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY, Sally and her husband, Bill, are giving a week-end party at their country home near Atlanta to celebrate the engagement of two friends, Bob and Claire. But Aunt Maggie crashed the party, and so did Eve, who had tried hard to win Bob from Claire. And now the house is a tangle of terror, because Sally just has found Aunt Maggie, choked to death in the back hall.

CHAPTER EIGHT The Grip of Fear

I TRIED to tell myself that Eve was desperately unhappy and that this was what made her lash out to people. And that she was unhappy because she either did not know what she wanted or, perhaps, didn't realize what she wanted until it belonged to someone else. But, anyway, it would not mend matters for me to lose my head. And there was no gain saying the fact that she was right about the unhappy consequences which must follow in the wake of murder.

So I said, "Bob, don't you think it would be a good idea to get Alice a nip of brandy? Will anyone else have a drink?"

Bob brought in a decanter and glasses from the dining room and both Alice and Eve took the small drinks offered, after which he downed two quite large ones himself. "And now if you girls will excuse me a moment," he said, "I'll go upstairs and get my pipe."

"Hurry back," Alice told him, obviously braced by the brandy. "That awful pipe," Eve chided.

viously did not intend to be among those present.

"You can call it the storm, if you like," Alice quavered, "but after all, Aunt Maggie was murdered. Then there's the telephone.
And now the light."

And there is still more that you don't know about it, I now thought, as Kirk and Bill came in through the dining room door,
Bill carrying one of the big silver candelabra from the dining room,
which he carefully deposited beside the candlesticks on the secretary.

"I've told Andrew to take the station wagon and go to Roswell,
and report what has happened,"
he said. "It seemed the most practical thing to do. I knew we wouldn't get better when someone from the outside could take the situation in hand."

"Heckle insists that she is going with Andrew," Kirk observed.
"And on a night like this. There's marital devotion for you."

"That's not consideration for Andrew," said Bill, dryly. "Bessie's scared to stay alone in the servants' house."

To me there didn't seem anything so strange about Bessie's timidity. I didn't want to be alone, anywhere, myself, right then. That made me think of Bob.

"I suspect you had better rescue Bob," I told Bill. "He's probably wandering around upstairs like a lost soul in the outer darkness."

But Bob himself appeared just then, having had matches in his pocket and having located his bedside candle, as he explained.
"Didn't I hear you say you had sent Andrew to Roswell?" he asked Bill.

At Bill's assent Bob seemed to hesitate, though he wished to say something but didn't seem to approve. "You don't seem to approve," Eve remarked. "Any suggestions?"

"No, no," Bob hastened to reply. "Only had anybody thought that we have sent away the two people who were nearest the scene at the time of the crime?"

"You're barking up the wrong tree, old man," Bill assured him. "We've had Bessie and Andrew ever since we were married, and, while that may not be a lifeline, Bessie's mother, who died a year or so ago, was Aunt Ann's cook for thirty years."

"Longer than that," I said.
"Your Aunt Ann says she practically raised Bessie."

"There you go. Talking just like Aunt Maggie," Eve cut in. "Family, family, family. After all, it is possible for murderers to have parents just the same as anyone else."

"But it is silly to suspect Andrew or Bessie," Claire chimed
in. "After all, if that had been their intention, they had plenty of opportunity last night when they were all out here alone."

"Silly," Bob argued. "We might as well face it. Somebody who was in the house at the time has to be guilty. And if not the servants—"

"Then the guests," Eve finished for him.

"Or some outsider," I suggested.

"That's a thought," Bob agreed.
"And this outsider may still be inside."

"That's what I've been thinking all the time," wailed Alice.
"We'll search the place," said
Bill determinedly.

"But I don't want to be left alone," Alice whined again.

Flat tire.

At that moment Andrew appeared in the doorway. "Mr. Bill, sir," he announced when all eyes were turned upon him, "I done had a accident!"

"Accident?" we all echoed.
"What do you mean, accident?"
Bill demanded.

"Yes, sir, Mr. Bill. First I find a flat tire. I done use the spare this afternoon, so I have to pump it up. Then when I get it changed and Bessie and me are going out the gate, just as we get to where the road been worked on, we skid and run into a tree. I tried and tried, but I can't get the engine started up again. What I come to ask now is, can I use your car,
Mr. Bill, or get Miss Sally's? I dunno whether I get any farther's I did the first time, but I try if you say the word. That road's mighty bad. Yes, sir, mighty bad.
And it ain't stopped raining one minute since it start up this afternoon."

"Well," said Bill, "we've got to get word to Roswell, somehow. I hate to make you try it on a night
like this and over that road, but I suppose you will just have to take my car and see what you can do. It's too bad we have no tire chains."

"Yes, sir, Mr. Bill. Thank you, sir," said Andrew and was gone.
"How about that search party?"
asked Kirk. "If the girls don't want to be left alone, suppose we divide into two groups, one of us staying in the basement, the other on the top floor, and meeting on the second floor."

"Good," said Bill. "Let's all be sure we have plenty of matches.
In case our candles go out. By the way, Sally, isn't there a flashlight
here somewhere?"

"There's one in the compartment of my car," I answered, hoping there was. "And Andrew probably has one in the station wagon."

"I'll tell him to bring one in before he gets away," said Bill,
going back toward the kitchen.

"You know, that's a funny thing," he said, when he came back. "My car had a flat, too. Andrew's changing it now. I suppose it must have been all those workmen we had out here. Don't see any point in leaving nails around though."

For our search, which finally got under way, Bill and Eve and Claire decided to start from the basement, while the rest of us climbed to the third floor. I don't think Claire was very keen about going with Eve, but Alice was bent on sticking close to Bob and I somehow couldn't bring myself
to face that back passage just then.

In the study I noticed the paper
which had been propped against the inkwell was there no longer.

Kroger's New Hardin Co. Stockyards

CAMERA VIEW OF NEW KROGER STOCKYARDS

Yards To Buy Direct from Farmer for Slaughter in Columbus To Be Opened Monday.

A new direct-to-packer livestock marketing outlet will be afforded Ohio farmers when the concentration yards of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. are opened Monday, at Kenton. The company will receive hogs, lambs, calves and cattle daily for slaughter at its packing house in Columbus
and other leading markets.

The Kenton yards are the third set opened by Kroger in Ohio, the others being located at Columbus and Chillicothe. Added facilities at the Columbus packing house, where livestock is killed and processed for the company's stores, have necessitated these new receiving points in central Ohio, company officials said.

In keeping with the policy of the organization to buy as much as possible directly from the farmer, the Kenton yards, located near Bales
and Gary Mill roads, along the Erie railroad tracks, will receive all types of livestock from breeders and feeders in Hardin and nearby counties, which constitute an important feeding section.

William Dimond has been appointed general manager, to be assisted by Dale Runnion. The yards, just completed on a 107-acre farm recently bought by Kroger, will be open six days a week. Animals will be weighed immediately and farmers paid in full at time of weighing, with no deductions for yardage or handling, according to C. J. Karch, manager of the Kroger packing house at Columbus. Scales will be operated by a bonded weigh-master. Prices will be established daily according to the existing markets, Mr. Karch states.

Daily capacity of the new yards
is estimated at 1,500 hogs; 1,200 lambs and 150 cattle. Most of this livestock will be trucked directly to the Columbus packing house, according to Mr. Karch, although many of the lambs will be shipped by rail to Detroit.

Preliminary to opening the yards next week, the company has invited a number of farmers and organization leaders of counties
around Kenton for a buffet luncheon at the Elks' Lodge in Kenton Saturday evening. L. L. Rummell, of the general offices of the Kroger Co. in Cincinnati, will be chairman, while main speaker at the informal program will be Byron Redman, manager of the Kroger Columbus branch. Other speakers will be James McKinney, Arthur Boehm, and R. J. Reider,
all associated with the company.

About 150 guests are invited,
including county and city officials,
newspaper editors, county agricultural agents, vocational agriculture instructors, farm organization leaders and many of the livestock farmers near Kenton.
Several members of the department of animal husbandry at Ohio State university are expected to attend.

Representatives of the Azar Co., and of the Kay Shapiro Co. of Detroit, dealers in lambs, will be present, along with Harry D.
Joyce, livestock buyer of the Kroger Co. at Detroit, and Lester
Stone, of the firm's Cincinnati
general offices.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause aching backache, rheumatic pains,
loss of energy, loss of sleep, getting up
at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage of urine with burning and stinging sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels,
so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They are happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MAN FACES U. S. JURY

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 14—Trial
of Warren M. Applegate, former Delaware county stock farmer, accused of defrauding the government through the sale of mortgaged property, opened this week before a jury in the federal court at Toledo.

The indictment charged him
with selling cattle upon which he had borrowed money from the Farm Credit Administration
through the Columbus Production Credit association.

Until late last summer, when he moved to Lucas county, Ap-legate operated the Duncan
farm on the Powell road.

For Friday, Nov. 15

AN INTERESTING and eventful day, in which last, strange, intrigue, and conflict proceedings may result in surprising denouement. These are likely to culminate in the public eye, with the endorsement and signs of preference from those in power and authority. Innovation, originality, romance and adventure have their influential place in contributing to a happy, progressive and probably thrilling state of affairs, in which creative ability, high ideals and spiritual faculties seek crystallized expression.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which peculiar experiences or extraordinary contacts may make life thrilling, romantic, adventurous and even spectacular. There are subtle and intriguing forces at work, calling for finesse and subtlety in order to put over programs in which the ideals, aspirations, intuitions seek expression. This may be in the form of art, music, poetry, drama, possibly politics, adventure or romance in which the finer creative urges demand expression.

A child born on this day may have an unusual and intriguing character, the heights and depths of which may prove unfathomable. It should be strongly intuitive, aspirational, idealistic.

JAILED FOR DISOBEYING ORDER NOT TO DRIVE CAR

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 13 — Arrested for driving an automobile during the year in which his operator's license was revoked, Grover Hawkins, 42, of near Delaware, was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in Delaware county jail by Mayor Paul B. Whit Saturday. In approximately two weeks Mr. Hawkins would have had his license restored, officials said, since the year's time would have elapsed on Nov. 25.

PATRIOTIC TRIM ON COAT-DESS

Fashion gives three cheers for the "stars and stripes" this year. A patriotic mood perfectly illustrated by Pattern 4612, which Anne Adams has designed for the American housewife. The optional stars-and-stripes design embroidered on the revers and pocket-band are done from an easy transfer motif, with directions included in the Sewing Instructor. Make them in red and blue on white contrast for a gay patriotic color scheme. And match the revers and pocket-band with cuffs and perhaps even a belt of crisp white. The simple-to-make dress is in just three main pieces (see open diagram) with darts for nice fit. The sleeves may be long or short.

Pattern 4612 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 38 takes 4 1/4 yards 35 inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrast.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Extra! Extra! Everything about the Anne Adams Winter Fashion Book makes extra news! Its vivid pages are filled with styles new as tomorrow's headlines—each in a sure-to-fit pattern.
